

Trixie-Anne Santos

Web Developer

Summary

Personal Summary

A resourceful and user-focused full-stack web developer who is ready to bring her full potential to the table. I'm easy-going, very approachable who works well with others or independently, and embraces challenges head-on. I've worked in the past with big companies like Oreilly's, and Denso. I also have 3 years of background in Biology because it is what I studied for as an undergrad.I do believe this field is my calling. I'm always willing to learn new things and I'm very resilient. I love I am ready to be a part of a team that is not afraid to push itself to the next level. I will contribute my creativity, skills, and vision whether as a front-end or a back-end developer because I plan on making long career out of it and the more exposure I have in both ends, the better I will be as a web developer in the future.
